Kaunas, Lithuania

Wildlife management and conservation in human altered ecosystems, 3 ECTS

Registration deadline 11th October, 2024

Vytautas Magnus university Agriculture Academy invites students from Erasmus+ partner countries to participate in Erasmus BIP “Wildlife management and conservation in human altered ecosystems”.

Target group of the planned course:

- Students of Forestry, Environmental protection, Ecology and related fields (B.Sc. and M.Sc.)

The objectives of the course are to familiarize students with currently relevant wildlife management and conservation topics in forest and agricultural ecosystems. We aim to represent wildlife management under different socio-economic conditions within a wide North-South gradient in Europe.

The course will cover topics about large carnivore population management and society conflicts, restoration of wildlife population, their role in forest ecosystems and agriculture.

The program includes Fieldtrip to Enclosure of European bison in Dzūkija National Park and VMU hunting area „Bargailiai” in Botanical-zoological reserve „Praviršulio tyrelis“, Radviliškis distr.
